The Estill Eagle favors Hon. George Matt Adams for Governor.

The Fiftyeth Congress has entered on the last week of its existence.

James C. Flood, the California millionaire, died at Heidelberg, Germany, Thursday.

Louisville has a bonded indebtedness of eight million dollars, yet she grows and grows.

Dick Tate's shortage has been credited with $60,000 derived from his individual estate.

Eleven girls were killed at Plymouth, Pennsylvania, Monday, by an explosion of dynamite.

Mr. Harrison will be inaugurated President of the United States on next Monday, March 4th.

Henry Walton shot and dangerously wounded his wife in Lincoln county, He ought to be hung.

President Harrison and party have gone to Washington to be ready for the inauguration next Monday.

Stanley, the African explorer, has been killed again. Seems to us the Africans never grow tired of a thing.

The bondsmen of ex-Treasurer Tate gained their case in the Circuit Court at Frankfort, having been used on the bond.

Heavy snow storms occurred in Virginia, Georgia and South Carolina, last Thursday, while Kentucky had nothing of the kind.

Last year the gold product in the United States was $33,175,000, a slight increase over the preceding year; and the silver product was $43,000,000.

Three hundred and twenty-three thousand seven hundred and sixteen divorces have been granted in the United States within the past twenty years.

Judge O. P. McManama, who distinguished himself as Judge of the court that tried Buford for the killing of Judge Elliott, died at Frankfort on Wednesday.

England is to add seventy war vessels to her formidable navy. As peace-loving people grow more and more numerous, preparations for war grow greater and greater.

The Confederate Veteran's meeting, announced to be held at Lexington was postponed because the time conflicted with that of the horse sales. It will occur further along.

Congressman McCreary is of the opinion that the United States should take a hand in the construction of the Panama canal, and has prepared a report recommending the same to Congress.

A little cold weather visited the North-west Saturday night. The thermometer registered all the way from 51 degrees below at Chicago to 52 degrees below at Minnedosa, wherever that is.

Senator Kenna was on Thursday re-elected to the United States Senate by the Legislature of West Virginia, after a deadlock of several weeks. So West Virginia is not so much Republican after all.

A man named Unsell has fled from Nelson county because he was accused of forging notes on numerous deceased persons. It appears that for several years, no man could die without owing Unsell money, evidenced by note. This is a new scheme.

In Chicago, on last Thursday, in the Tariff Reform League a letter was read from President Cleveland reiterating his positive and well-known views of the necessity for reducing the tariff to a revenue standard, and repeating his confidence in the inevitable triumph of the policy for which the reformers are laboring.

At the Tariff reform League Convention the following resolutions were adopted: "We hold that it is the natural right of every man to freely exchange his labor or the product of his labor to the best advantage. We declare ourselves unalterably opposed to the so-called protective system, and demand the prompt abrogation of all protective features from the tariff."

NATURAL GAS IN LOUISVILLE.

Kentucky's metropolis, we don't mean Winchester—has taken a long step in the progressive direction—she is to have natural gas piped from Meade county. A party of Louisville capitalists went to Brandenburg, last week, and perfected arrangements. It is the intention of the Union Pipe Line Company, to expend not less than $40,000 before August 1, and to complete the main through to Louisville as rapidly as possible. The pipe line will cost about $600,000. They state the main will be small at the extreme end of the territory, but as it passes through it coming this way, it will be increased in size, so that the pipe will be of sufficient dimensions when they leave the gas territory to bring all the product of the wells now bored, and to be bored, to this city. It is thought that enough wells will have been sunk by July to yield a flow of 60,000,000 cubic feet per day.

PULLED HIS EARS.

Joe Blackburn walloped Bill Chandler in a committee room of the United States Senate, on last Friday. Chandler had made an attack on Secretary Vilas, and when Blackburn asked him for his authority, he called Blackburn a slave-driver. Blackburn seized him by the ear and slung him about the room for some minutes, until the ear assumed the shape of a red cotton sock which had been just wrung out of wash.

ENDORSED CLEVELAND.

The Tariff Reform League, in Chicago adopted the following resolution: "We honor President Cleveland for his brave, manly and statesmanlike course in making tariff reform the issue before the public; We see in the increased popular majorities which that issue has won for him and in the increase of his vote in the industrial centers, assurance of the early triumph of the 'people's cause,' and we pledge our selves to increasing agitation until that triumph is won."

FORTY-TWO STATES.

President Cleveland has signed the bill admitting to statehood the territories of Dakota, Montana and Washington, and dividing Dakota into two states—North and South Dakota. There remain only six territories. An unbroken line of states now extends from the Atlantic to the Pacific, except a small arm of Idaho that extends up between Montana and Washington to the British line.

These new states are supposed to be Republican, but grass doesn't need protection, and the Dakotas will soon be Democratic.

The map makers and historians can now go about getting out new books to conform to the new condition of things, and the school children can have new books next session.

GOV. BUCKNER ON THE TARIFF LEAGUE MEETING IN CHICAGO.

Upon his return from Chicago, Governor Buckner said of the Chicago meeting: "The Chicago convention was a most enthusiastic and earnest one. Democrats were in attendance from every State from Massachusetts to Nebraska, and every one seemed to be enthused with the objects of the League. There was no thought of a retreat from the principles as embodied in the tariff reform platform. The convention indorsed the Democratic principles, and declared that taxes should be levied for revenue only. Every man in attendance was opposed to a protective tariff, except one calculated to meet the expenses of the Government, and that only."

"The convention is calculated to do much good. The cause of tariff reform, it has incited interest all along the line. A committee was appointed to effect a permanent organization, and another meeting will be held at the call of that committee. The purpose of organizing a bureau for the distribution of suitable literature and to supply speakers, believing that the people are open to candid dispassionate debate and reason, and that they will be in the heat of a political campaign such as that of last fall. We intend to work thoroughly and systematically, and will try by all honorable means to educate the people up to our ideas of tariff reform. The Tariff Reform League will establish branches in every State in the Union, and with hearty co-operation much good can be done during the next three or four years."

"All the speeches and discussions, some of them very animated, which I listened to in Chicago, showed that the speakers were thoroughly posted as to the intricate workings of a protective tariff, and they were most earnest in their endeavors. I think the best and ablest speakers heard at the convention were those made by the operating mechanics, thinking men, who plainly show the evils and injustice of a protective tariff. Not a single delegate was there who was not bitterly opposed to the present system of taxation."

OLD TIMES.

Recollections of Mr. L. P. Figg, One of The Old Times of Eighteenth Street.

From Mr. L. P. Figg, the well known grocer, at 2709 E. 18th street, who is among the "old times" of 18th street, we gather some very interesting facts for our readers this week.

Mr. Figg lived on 18th street in the year 1881, having in connection with W. M. Masters, built a house and opened a grocery on the southeast corner of 18th and Tracy. The house has since been removed and the ground is vacant now, being a part of the Lockridge estate.

At that time the street was only a country road and the neighbors lived far apart. There was only one house in Dundee Place Addition and stood near what is now 14th and Trout and was known as the Evans homestead.

The very ground being occupied now by the house of Mr. James Lillis, who resides there.

Whistles first addition, which extends from O. K. creek to 16th and Virginia to Flora, was laid off and 8 or 10 houses had been built upon it, the year previous to Mr. Figg's coming.

dry grazing the first year they opened out in consequence of a spare population, but the next year Dundee Place Addition was laid out and built upon and then they were in high clover.

Mr. Figg remained at that location until about two years and a half ago, when he removed to his present location. He has lived to see the street grow from nothing to a busy thoroughfare with about 300 business firms on it, and ranks as the second retail street in the city. He enjoys a lucrative trade and a popular and enterprising citizen.

He removed to Kansas in 1860 from Richmond, Kentucky, and in 1870 came to Missouri, and like all Kentuckians, thinks well of his native state, but has more faith in the future of this street than in Kentucky, and we believe he is about right too. If you want to know all about the early history and growth of the street, just go to his store and you will find one of the cleverest men you ever struck and free to confess that its growth has been most wonderful indeed.—Kansas City Progress Star.

KENTUCKY STATE WEATHER SERVICE—BULLETIN FOR JANUARY, 1889.

The mean daily temperature of the State for January, as deduced from the tri-daily observations, was 37°, from the mean of average maximum and minimum temperatures, 28°. The figures are about 7° in excess of the normal. The mean daily maximum temperature was 45.7°. The highest temperature was 57°. The mean daily minimum temperature was 28.8°. The lowest temperature was 13°. The average monthly precipitation was 3.85 inches. The highest temperature was 65°, was located at Paducah on the 18th and the lowest 13°, at Ashland on the 22nd. The average warmest day of the month was the 15th and the average coldest the 29th. With the exception of January, 1876 and 1880, where the mean temperatures were 43.1 and 50.1 respectively, the past month was the warmest January since the opening of the service in 1870.

The average precipitation for the State was 3.85 inches, which shows a deficiency of about three-fourths of an inch. This deficiency was however confined to the Southern and Western portions of the State. In the Eastern and Northern counties there was considerable excess. The greatest excess was reported as 5.66 inches at Lexington, and the least 2.32 inches at Lexington. The snow fall was, as a rule, very light and unevenly distributed throughout the month. At no place did the snow remain upon ground any considerable length of time. The only stations representing snow on the ground at the end of the month were Frankfort and Shelbyville the depth in each case being less than one inch. The average number of rainy days was 7, cloudy days 14, fair 6 and clear 11.

The land barometer area which passed over the State on the 5th was accompanied by violent winds which did considerable damage at South Fork and Shelbyville. The maximum velocity reported was 50 miles an hour at Lexington and 40 miles at Louisville.

The following miscellaneous phenomena were observed during the month: At Fairmount lake on the 20th, at Frankfort, lunar solar on the 7th and 14th, at Madisonville, lunar solar on 18th and 22nd and solar lunar on 18th and 22nd, at Richmond, lunar halo on 16th.

The percentage of verification of weather signals received from Washington and distributed to 28 points in the State, was for weather 81 per cent, and for temperature 83 per cent. Cold waves signals were ordered on the 8th, 13th, 16th and 26th. Of these, those on the 8th, 20th and 26th were testified.

MARK BURKE, DR. E. A. GRANT, Director.

SPEEDWELL ORGANIZED, AND WANTS THE R. N. I. & E. R. R.

Editor The Climax: An article in The Climax not long ago by "D," called attention to the valuable minerals and other things on the line of the survey of the R. N. I. & E. R. R. The Hon. Mr. Speedwell, President of the R. N. I. & E. R. R., came to the aid of "D." A week ago word came to all interested in the development of the resources along this line to be at Little Rock, Friday, 22nd inst. A large crowd of interested citizens, including the directors of the R. N. I. & E. R. R., and the Madison and Greenup, as the sunny hours sped away, but by high noon a number of prominent citizens of Richmond had arrived, and Hon. W. B. Smith stepped upon the platform and briefly stated the object of the meeting. He said he spoke on the subject of the R. N. I. & E. R. R. for the completion of the R. N. I. & E. R. R. to Richmond by September next, had been let, and that, by the terms of the Madison county subscription that meant the completion of the road bed to the Estill county line by the same time.

Mr. Figg is offering very inducement such as to secure the road. He needs one and I wish he had one. I don't want to beat Waco out of anything. I hope she will get this road if we don't. But we need the road for the development of the resources of the country along this line.

But we must act, offer inducements in the way of way, proof of mineral and other resources. This could best be accomplished by organizing and making exhibits. He then read an obligation as to right of way, which a number of persons promptly signed. He also read a form of lease in the name of H. B. Dillingham and others, and several thousand acres were leased in a very short time. The people were enthusiastic. He stood in sight of the gas well where "D." said the horse's tails were singed off many years ago. The gentleman who owns the land promptly leased it. Another citizen exhibited a very rich specimen of lead ore which came from a point almost in sight of the speaker and immediately on the survey. He stood also in sight of the mountains of lithograph stone, and was assured of the finest quality, free from iron, below the limestone. Citizens also assured him of the existence of vast quantities of white and yellow sand, potter's clay, yellow ochre, coal and chalk. Besides the purest of limestone, which all burns into lime as white as snow, there reaches from near Speedwell to Crooked Creek the very finest "fire brick," of any thickness, and it can be easily quarried, to 73 feet long if desired. This material is right on the survey made a few years ago, and right at hand for the construction of piers and culverts.

Although the meeting seemed to more than confirm the statements made by "D." and "H." and another meeting was appointed for Friday, March 1st, at same place.

stock, have returned. Among the stock disposed of was the horse Pickwick, which was sold for $20,000, and a span of Rutland horses brought $5,000. South America offers a good market for speedy horses and a large trade has been opened up by a Vermont syndicate for fast horses and blooded stock. The expense of shipment is large, which relatively increases prices.

WINCHESTER COURT.—J. A. Ramsey, auctioneer, reports from 300 to 400 cattle on the market. The following public sales were made: 15 choice feeders, 1,250 pound weight, brought $4.00 per cwt.; 46 feeders, 1,100 pound weight, $3.50 per cwt.; 20 plain steers, 1,000 pound weight, $2.75 per head; about 200 broke mules offered but few sales were made.

We recently applied to breeders of improved stock for prices, with a view to the purchase of some for friends in different parts of the state. It is here as any doubt in the minds of our readers as to whether it pays better to rear good stock than it does to buy. We have only to try to buy some of the former to be convinced. A price list of 2-year-old colts and fillies for sale reads: No. 89, 1000, No. 90, 1000; No. 92, $3000; No. 105, $2000; No. 112, $2000. A list of 88 and only two low $400. Breeders do not only ask these high prices but buyers are not scarce at these figures. One eye says: "Nothing has been for sale but yearlings." How did these men begin? Simply by breeding their common natures to standard horses, and continuing to grade up. A city bred by a standard horse, and where dam and sire were of equal quality, at $200 to $400—Wheel-Enterprise, Little Rock, Ark.

Entries to the four stakes of the Kentucky Association, at Lexington closed as follows: THE NATURA STAKES. For two-year-old fillies; $10 each to accompany the entry, $40 additional to start, with $700 added by the proprietor of Natura Stud of which $100 to second and $50 to third. Five fillings. Forty-three entries.

BREEDERS STAKES. (Given by the breeders of Central Ky.) For two-year-old colts and fillies; $10 to accompany the entry, $40 additional to start, $700 added, of which $100 to second and $50 to third. Five fillings. Thirty entries.

LOUIS AND GUS STRAUS STAKES. A handicap for all ages; $10 each to accompany the entry, and $25 additional to start, $500 added by Louis and Gus Straus, leading clothiers and fine tailors of Lexington, Ky., of which $100 to second; weights to appear two days prior to the race. One mile. Twenty-one nominations.

DISTILLERS STAKES. For all ages; $50 entrance, half forfeit, with $700 added by the distillers of Western Kentucky; $800 to the winner, $100 to the second. These races will be run on Tuesday night February 19th, 1889. The burial occurred on Thursday in Richmond cemetery.

Minor H. Cobb died in Livingston county, Illinois, on Thursday, February 14th, 1889, of organic disease of the heart, aged 19 years. Deceased was the son of Jesse T. Cobb, formerly of Madison county, and a nephew of Mrs. S. Parrish, of Richmond.

REPORTING FOR PAPERS.

Advice to a Young Man Thirsting for Literary Glory.

One of the greatest essentials of success for a reporter on a city paper is a thorough knowledge of the city and a general acquaintance with the citizens.
Men of ordinary ability who possess extended knowledge of points for gathering news and a familiarity with noted local characters, are often of more value to a newspaper than men capable of writing brilliant and highly polished articles, who are comparative strangers in the locality. A reporter must get all the news. If acquainted with every thing and every body in town, he gathers his items and writes them up in a crude manner, perhaps, but he contains the one point of news
wanted and the city editor, who knows the value of the news, will not mind the roughness of the writing. Under these circumstances a young man from the country, unused to the atmosphere and surroundings of a city life, has a very small chance of becoming a reporter on a city newspaper. More than this, he cannot be in competition with the men of the city, who are used to the work, and who are acquainted with the city and its people. A young man from the
